

Introduction

The Pakistan English Language Teachers' Association (PELTA) is a registered, non-political, non-government (NGO), voluntary body of English Language teachers from schools, colleges and universities. Formed in 2014, in Lahore, it is dedicated to improving the standard of English Language teaching and learning in Pakistan. PELTA operates on the principle of team work and self-help to enable maximum exploitation of the limited resources available in the country. As a body, it attempts to be well informed about recent developments in teaching techniques, which invariably need to be modified and improved, in order to suit the needs and limitations of the Pakistani society. It is affiliated with a number of international organizations like University of Cambridge (UK), Michigan University (States) and University of Melbourne (Australia).

PELTA is joint venture of department of CAMBRIDGE ENGLISH – Part of University of Cambridge, UK and INSTITUTE OF CAREER DEVELOPMENT.

Mission statement:

To be an invaluable source of credible information, quality assistance and innovation in teaching and continuing education

Vision of Institute of Career Development: To provide a stimulating working environment with technological orientation which maximizes individual potential and ensures that students of all ability levels are equipped with the right language skills to face the challenges of education, work and life; while becoming a resource centre, for teachers, supporting teaching excellence.
